For Jessica, everyday obstacles were hard to deal with. When one day goes from bad to terrible, Jessica's only solution to deal with it was to self-mutilate and she thinks that because of her big mouth she was sent to the psych unit. From there, Jessica was sent to a residential treatment facility meaning she wouldn't be home for a while. Her first few weeks there were rough for her. She didn't want to open up knowing that her mouth was what caused her to be in that position. Will Jessica trust staff and talk about herself or will she continue believing that keeping her thoughts to herself will help her get discharged from there faster?
